Citizens Organize to Combat Influence of Revolutionary Agents Mining Towns Crows Nest Pass

Locals Organized in Blairmore and Bellevue—Mass Meeting Next Tuesday in Coleman Opera House—Over 500 Voluntarily Enrolled in League Up to This Morning—1000 Names Anticipated as Members

Over one hundred citizens, including mine workers, business and professional men, met to organize a Citizens' League to act in conjunction with similar leagues of Blairmore and Bellevue to combat Communism and to promote ideals of British citizenship among the workers of the Crows Nest Pass.

A resolution as follows was passed: "We, the Coleman Citizens' League, do hereby declare our adherence to Canadian law and institutions. It is our purpose to maintain the observance of law and order and to keep the peace. We further declare our disapproval of, and pledge ourselves to lawfully oppose any person or organization, who or which in any manner teaches sedition or revolutionary theories, or who urge the use of violence, or in any manner disturbs the peace, and such other matters of public welfare that may come before the meeting."

Officers appointed were: A. M. Morrison, president; Rev. A. E. Larke, secretary; D. Gillespie, J. E. Patterson (mayor), W. Lees, Lt. Col. R. F. Barnes, H. T. Halliwell, A. Harry, H. C. McBurney, E. W. Beart, committee.

The meeting was opened by the Rev. A. S. Partington, who outlined the procedure of organizing committees in the other Pass towns. The movement had become necessary in order to make it clear to the government that there was a great mass of public opinion desirous of seeing law and order maintained, and to press for a more strict enforcement of the law against those who had been guilty of intimidation, insolence and abuse to law-abiding citizens during the strike, particularly in Blairmore and Bellevue, where the strike still prevails.

A. M. Morrison was appointed chairman, and referring to his 25 years' residence in the Crows Nest Pass, during which he had seen many labor disputes, he stated it was not the desire of the Citizens' League to take sides, for if the workers felt it necessary to strike to have wrongs righted, they should certainly exercise the right. But this dispute was not a strike for better wages, but to overthrow the existing form of government, and this part of the country would not stand for outside influences upsetting lawful institutions.

William Lees, speaking from a miner's viewpoint, stated there may have been labor disputes in the past when they would not have welcomed the organization of a citizens' league, and had it been an ordinary labor dispute, they would tell those outside of the miners' ranks to keep their hands off. But many did not realize the battle that had been carried on by former labor leaders during the Crows Nest years. The fight was not along the lines of a labor dispute, but was revolutionary, and required strong measures to put it down. Today people not allied with the Communists could not go anywhere in Blairmore or Bellevue without being intimidated, no matter if the "Reds" brought no matter if the "Reds" brought

ALEX. M. MORRISON

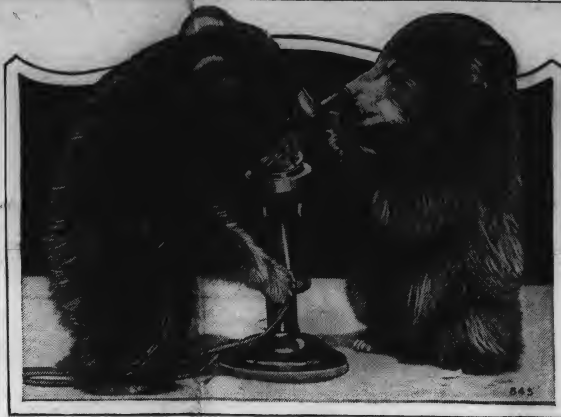

Unanimous choice as president of Coleman Citizens' League, whose appointment meets with favor from all classes of the community. From experience he possesses the viewpoint of labor in this mining area; his counsels will be of value in presiding over its deliberations, and his leadership will inspire confidence.

5000 pickets to Coleman, they would not prevent the miners here going to work. He was heartily in accord with the formation of this association. Chas. Ray and Chas. Emmerson, of Bellevue, and Mr. Corbett, of Blairmore, spoke on the situation there. Mr. Emmerson stated that citizens outside of the miners' ranks had been insulted and abused and subjected to indignities that were disgraceful in a British country, and it was the feeling that the police be instructed to enforce much stricter methods in dealing with disturbers of the peace. He urged the citizens of the Pass towns to unite in combating the "Red" propaganda.

William Haysom and Dave Gillespie spoke briefly, the latter stating that the movement should have the support of every man at the meeting, and he would emphatically give it all the support he could. Mr. Gillespie was for many years secretary of the local union, and was re-elected recently as secretary of the newly-organized Coleman Miners' Association.

Others who spoke were E. W. Beart and Mayor Pattinson, the latter stating that some time ago he had endeavored, through G. Cruickshank, M.L.A., for Rocky Mountain, to secure more strict enforcement of law and order by the Brownlee government. The aggravation from the "Reds" had become so acute that citizens had found it necessary to present their views in no uncertain manner to the powers that be, and it was time the English-speaking people asserted themselves.

It was decided that the Citizens' League include in its membership all who desire to see law and order maintained, no matter what their nationality may be.

The two 8-week-old Eastern Canadian black bear cubs seen above were born on the Wedgewood Hunting and Fishing Club grounds at Bissett, P.Q. They arrived in Montreal accompanied by Arthur Beaulieu, well known guide. They've been called Michael and Mary. As shown by the photograph, and photographs cannot lie, these two babies took early advantage of their first introduction to civilization to telephone Mother, though a little late for Mother's Day, to assure her they were being well looked after. Michael is listening in while Mary is doing the telephoning. They have been fed on tinned milk since their capture, but sugar is also a favorite article of diet. The cubs were brought to Montreal by Canadian Pacific Express and went on to New York from the Windsor Station.

HILLCREST ASSOCIATION AWARDS PRIZES TO BEST FISHERMEN

The sixth annual meeting of the Hillcrest Fish and Game Protective Association was held at Hillcrest on June 3, the president, Philip McNeil, occupying the chair, with a good crowd of enthusiasts in attendance.

Reports submitted by the executive committee were very encouraging. In 1931 the association had 97 members, whereas for 1932 to date the membership is up to 105. During last summer 30 outsiders have been taken on to keep the mines in order, and possibly to mine whatever coal they can. These are not union miners.

West Canadian Collieries state: "There is no truth in this dispatch. Miners have been employed and have worked for this company for several years."

"He who loses wealth loses much; he who loses a friend loses more; but he that loses his courage loses all."—Cervantes.

The winners of the annual competition for the largest fish of different varieties caught during the season were announced as follows:

Speckled trout—Wm. Stevenson (3 lbs 5 1/2 oz.)

Bull (dolly vardon) trout—J. Andruschuk (5 lbs 6 oz.)

Grayling—P. McNeil (2 lbs 11 oz.)

Prizes were awarded during the evening. In the competition for children under sixteen the following were the winners:

Speckled trout—John Riva (1 lb 8 oz.)

Bull trout—Ralph Draper (3 lbs 9 oz.)

Grayling—Andrew Hortak (2 lbs 1 1/4 oz.)

Prizes offered in this class will be awarded before the next season opens. Arrangements are under consideration to supply a perpetual challenge cup for the largest speckled trout caught by members each year.

The executive committee was re-elected to serve for another year, consisting of: President, Philip McNeil; secretary, A. N. Warriner; committee members, Messrs. Fred White, R. E. Silcock, P. Haggarty, R. Draper and J. Mackie.

After the meeting a social was held, presided over by G. E. Cruickshank, M.L.A., the following artists giving selections: Messrs. A. Rees, P. Rees, E. Rees, D. J. Davies, L. Tesolini, G. Fry, D. C. Thomas accompanied by Mr. T. Beynon.

REPORT WAS WRONG IN PREVIOUS ISSUE

In a news despatch dated from Blairmore, June 2, it was stated: "It is understood about 30 outsiders have been taken on to keep the mines in order, and possibly to mine whatever coal they can. These are not union miners."

West Canadian Collieries state: "There is no truth in this dispatch. Miners have been employed and have worked for this company for several years."

Strikers Protest Organization of Citizens to Combat 'Red' Influence

Address Letter to Premier Brownlee Asking Withdrawal of Police From Crows Nest Towns.

A letter addressed to Premier Brownlee over the signature of W. Peters, J. Kurosky Jr., of Blairmore miners, and J. Price and J. P. Dugdale of Bellevue miners, has been handed to The Journal presumably for publication.

The letter protests against the police being stationed here for greater numbers than usual during the strike, and complains of the organization of the Citizens' League.

It states: "We understand the same people that are fostering this organization also back the K.K.K., and is undoubtedly an open expression of the secret terroristic K.K.K. This organization is out to smash our strike, our union and all working-class organizations and drive us into scab conditions, and we will fight this to the last."

It further states: "The operators and their press are trying to brand our strike as a pure political strike, and that the only issue here is Communism. This is a lie, and they know it is a lie! Our strike can be settled any time the operators will agree that no miner will be discriminated and blacklisted for his ideas or union activity, and that we will have the full right to belong to whatever organization we wish to."

"However, we are on the verge of opening negotiations for an honorable settlement and this agitation for more police, citizens' leagues, etc., can only intensify the situation and prolong the strike. The strikers are not a red herring to hide the real issues; that the operators, who are getting such generous bonuses from the public treasury in the form of shipping subsidies, cost bonuses, (Continued on Page Eight)

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

The week-end camp near Knowles ranch, alongside McGillivray creek, proved very enjoyable. The duties of cook were divided between the experienced scouts, and they demonstrated how to make flap-jacks without baking powder. Flag-signalling tests were carried out, under A. S. McLintock, scoutmaster, and Reggie Jones, assistant. The boys took the tests and made beds from spruce boughs.

Crows Nest District Scouts will camp at Lee Lake from July 18 to 27 inclusive. Coleman troop expects to attend 100 per cent.

UNEMPLOYED ASK HELP

The town council met on Tuesday and heard a delegation representing the discriminated men who are not working. They applied for free light and water, also protection for non-payment of rent. Mayor Pattinson informed them that each case would be dealt with on its individual merits, as he is cordially had no power to guarantee free light and water. He stated that if investigation proved the need to supply provisions to distressed families, action would be taken.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Pattinson, Cra. Borrow, Jackson, Serak, Rushton, F. Antrobus and L. Jones.

Nationalism, Good And Bad

If nationalism is destroyed, mankind will be reduced to a helplessly dead level, declared Dr. A. N. Whitehead, of Harvard, representing the British Academy at the Royal Society of Canada meeting in Ottawa. Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the National Research Council of Canada, and former president of the University of Alberta, supplemented this declaration by saying: "No nation has qualified to take its place in the international arena until it has firmly established itself on national grounds. Canada has men of capacity to do this. It is up to us to provide them with the opportunity."

They are quite right, comments the Border Cities Star, if they are speaking of nationalism in the sense of a strong but sensible national pride, which impels scientists and statesmen to achieve greater things than their colleagues in other countries, so that mankind as a whole may benefit, and glory redound to the nation which originates the discoveries or the measure of progress. And it is to such a type of nationalism that one may readily believe men like Dr. Whitehead and Dr. Tory would subscribe.

But there is another sort of nationalism. It is ruining nations; it is stifling mankind. It has brought about the present depression. It is causing unemployment, ruin and suffering. It is heading this war-scarred old world inevitably toward a grimmer conflict than any in history; a conflict which, unless it is avoided, may witness the destruction of civilization as we know it.

It is that kind of nationalism which is based in a false conception of racial superiority, where one people look down upon other peoples, where racial color lines are drawn, where differences in language and religion are emphasized to the supposed advantage of one group of people over other groups. Nationalism founded in false pride and pretensions, based upon purely selfish considerations and an utter disregard of all other peoples and nations, nationalism which would seek glory and aggrandizement for itself at the expense of all others, does not qualify any nation for a place in the international arena. It is a nationalism which raises no other nation but raises mankind to a higher level, but reduces all to a lower level and takes the glory that should be in life out of it.

When, following the Great War, the League of Nations was brought into being, it had for its object the uplifting of all nations, the development in action of a brotherhood of mankind. In keeping with that aspiration the Peace Treaty made provision for the self-determination of races and nations. It provided for a larger liberty for oppressed minorities, and for the world as a whole. But, unfortunately, these newly created smaller nations, as well as many of the older nations, became imbued with the idea that they must first and foremost establish and develop a strong national spirit and consciousness, and this found expression in that narrow form of nationalism to which reference has been made.

This narrow nationalism fostered suspicions of other nations, was built and thrived upon fear of others. It impelled nations, not to remove existing barriers to international intercourse, but to erect new and even more insurmountable barriers. It resulted in a mad race of still greater armaments, the spending of untold billions in preparation for future wars. It led governments the world over to spend and spend madly without due regard to the national income or even of the economic and financial capacities of all nations combined.

Thus narrow nationalism developed at the outset at such a rate and to such an extent that it largely smothered the League of Nations ideal of a true internationalism founded upon a sane nationalism which only desired such glory and power for itself as grew out of the fact that it was making a larger and finer contribution to mankind at large than other nations were making.

Until this narrow nationalistic spirit is destroyed there can be no permanent peace, progress and prosperity in the world. In its destruction lies the only hope for mankind.

Chivalry On The Road

Something More Than "Reasonable Care" Required From Drivers

Legislation works no charm on the roads or elsewhere. It can only create the conditions in which safety can thrive. Ultimately we must protect ourselves. But when that is said, we can only return to an appeal frequently made in this column. As drivers of machines of lethal possibilities, motorists should not be content in the crowded conditions of today with what is called "reasonable care." Pedestrians are not as young as they were. The Highway Code has not cured the short-sighted or the hard of hearing. It has not given good legs to the lame. There is a child at every crossing. Narrow short of chivalry is demanded, and from our modern charioteers it is not too much to ask.—Daily Herald, Glasgow.

A friend told me to give them Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I got a bottle, and after a couple of doses you should have seen the change. The children were soon well again, and I am very thankful to your wonderful remedy. I find it the only one that relieves so easily and quickly."

Sound Proofs His Home

Dance Band Conductor Can Now Practice Without Any Complaints Jack Hylton, the London dance band conductor, has been driven from flats to hotels and from hotels to houses for five years, trying to find somewhere to practice.

Everywhere people protested, and so now he has built a sound-proof room in the heart of Mayfair. Mr. Hylton turned a number of garages into a house and made an underground music room. The room has no windows, and the walls are so thick that no sound can be heard outside.

Above the band practice room Mr. and Mrs. Hylton have their living quarters. There are 10 rooms, in each of which is a gramophone and a wireless loud speaker.

Mr. Hylton said that the scheme had been designed by his wife. "It is difficult to try out new compositions in an ordinary house, but as our nearest neighbors are 25 yards away there can be no complaints."

A Saskatchewan farm woman living about 10 miles from Regina is reported to have taken three dozen fresh eggs to a store and asked for their value in garden-seeds.

"I want some garden peas," she said. The trade was made. The package of seeds was taken home. She counted them. For 36 eggs she had received 35 seed peas.

A Grand Old Scot

Late "Sandy" McIntosh Of Aberdeen-shire Was Great Athlete

The late Alexander McIntosh, of Crathie, Aberdeenshire, may not be written into the annals of Scotland, but he was a grand old Scot just the same.

"Sandy" McIntosh has just died at the age of 81. For sixty-five years he was an annual competitor in the field of sports at the Braemar gathering, near Balmoral Castle. A son of the clan, he was a man of superb physique, standing over six feet in height. Grey-bearded and possessed of a massive frame, the veteran Highlander headed the Farquharson clan in the annual parades bearing the standard, and his appearance in the arena invariably aroused the admiration of the gatherings round the ring.

The Braemar gathering was the event of the year for "Sandy," awakening as it did memories of the "sixties of last century when first he took his place among the competitors in the ring. At 21 he was beginning to make a name for himself as a heavy-weight athlete, winning several of the principal awards at Braemar.

At 72, fifty-one years later, he took third place in the caber tossing competition, although his opponents this time included some of the best-known heavyweights in Scotland.

A caber is a shapen piece of a tree about twenty feet long and weighing enough to be a strenuous lift for the ground for the average man. The toser has to hoist it up to the palms of his hands, take a short run and then leave the pole so that it will turn over its own length in the air before falling.

Most of the young men of today would be baffled to lift the thing off the ground at all.

Bird's-Eye Maple In Demand

Used Extensively On Account Of Strength and Wearing Qualities

All kinds of furniture are manufactured from Canada's sugar maple, from solid to veneer while the figured veneer of bird's-eye maple is particularly in demand, according to the forest service, Department of Lands and Forests.

The strength and wearing qualities of the wood assure it a place in the vehicle industry, where it is used for heavy axles, frames, sleigh runners, factory trucks, bicycle wheel rims, etc. Because of its toughness it is made into baseball bats, hockey sticks, billiard cues, paddles, croquet balls, mallets, etc. The sugar maple is a leading wood for flooring, and its strength and stiffness suits it for the great variety of tool handles that are made from it.

Seeking Lumber Outlet

Delegation From British Columbia May Go To Orient

Possibility of sending a British Columbia lumber trade delegation to the Orient with the object of enlarging the sale of lower grades of lumber to China and Japan, is under consideration by the timbermen of the province. It was announced by Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Lands.

The recent United States duty against Canadian lumber will close market for the low grade product that absorbed $17,000,000 feet from British Columbia last year.

Great Britain and other empire sources are counted on to increase their imports of higher grade lumber from British Columbia.

British Scientists Go North

Will Endeavor To Probe The Mystery Of The Northern Lights

Equipped to send up sounding balloons to an altitude of 10 miles to test weather conditions and also to probe the mystery of northern lights, members of the British Polar Expedition are on their way to their base at Fort Rae, on Great Slave Lake.

The band of scientists is headed by Dr. J. M. Stagg, of the British Meteorological office.

Plans provide for the party remaining at Fort Rae until September, 1933, for the purpose of studying weather conditions in the far north.

The work is part of an international arrangement which is also being participated in by Canada, United States, Denmark, Russia and a number of other countries.

To carry on its investigations in the north, the British party brought six tons of instruments from the Old Country. It also has brought here 10 tons of foodstuffs donated by British and Canadian manufacturers.

Canadian Film

First Canadian Drama-Talkie Is Produced In Toronto

First Canadian drama-talkie, "The Begu," has been produced in Toronto by George Thornthorpe, with Dickson-Knox, Canadian actor, in the title role. The two-reel film was based on a script used long ago by Sir Henry Irving.

To produce this all-Canadian production many difficulties had to be overcome. It was made in the main gallery of the Fine Arts Building and the cast were all Torontonians. Lack of sound-proof equipment made remote orchestral control very difficult and even sleigh bells had to be faked with an ash tray and a tumbler because real bells refused to register as bells at all.

The movie-tone has been shown privately.

London Firemen Communicate By Phone On Rescue Ladder

So tall is a rescue ladder recently put into service by firemen of London, England, that a telephone is used to maintain communication between those at the top and bottom. Fully extended, it is 104 feet, and is said to reach twenty feet higher than the types now in use. The men at the base may follow the progress of the rescue work by phone.

Should Pay Small Bills

It may sound silly to say that the reason that collections are slow is because collections are slow. It is a sober fact, however. If the people who owe small accounts, from fifty cents to five dollars, let us say, would pay them—and most people are able to do that—much of the payment of the larger accounts would be greatly facilitated thereby. As the late Elbert Hubbard wrote, "The unforfeited sin is the disposition to evade the payment of small bills."

The mystery about campaign funds is this: Every one knows they exist, but hardly any one knows whence they come or whither they go.

Sun Spots and Rain

Plenty Of Moisture For Western Grain Fields Is Predicted

Western Canada may expect fairly generous rains for some time to come if sun-spot data collected by the Dominion Observatory runs true for time. According to observatory officials, Canada is now approaching a "sun-spot period," which should produce plenty of moisture for the western grain fields.

The effect of sun-spots, it was explained, is to increase the rainfall over a long period. A sun-spot period lasts for 11 to 11½ years. This does not mean that tremendous quantities of rain will fall for a short period, but rather that over a long period the precipitation will be higher than when the sun-spots are not in evidence.

Heavy rains in different parts of the world at present were hardly attributed to sun-spots.

To begin with, in the absence of accurate world data, scientists were unwilling to agree that the rainfall over the world has been exceptionally heavy.

While precipitation has been great in certain countries, it was not so in others.

Certain parts of Canada, for instance, had been exceptionally dry during May, while others had experienced generous rains.

Officials made it clear that a few weeks' heavy rain cannot be explained by sun-spots. Their effect is over a much longer period.

Realizes His Ambition

Swiss Watchmaker Has Brought To Perfection An Electric Watch

A retired watchmaker of Geneva, Switzerland, has just fulfilled his twelve-year ambition to perfect an electric watch. Driven by a fly-powder motor, it needs no connection with outside wires. The case itself contains a storage battery no larger than the winding mechanism of most timepieces, which is declared to hold its charge for a year, and which may be recharged when necessary. Electricity actually operates the watch and does not merely wind a spring, as is the case in self-winding clocks.

Polish Aviator Is Rescued At Sea By British Trawler

S.S. Circle Shell, 600 Miles off Portugal.—This small British trawler was en route to New Orleans with Stanislaus Felix Hauser, young New York-to-Waraw flyer, aboard after picking him up in an exhausted condition.

Master Wilson of the "Circle Shell" said his unexpected passenger was too ill, apparently from exposure and starvation, to give a coherent account of his experiences, but allayed any fears that Hauser was critical, with the statement that with treatment he was progressing favorably.

The "Circle Shell," three weeks out of Hamburg, on a leisurely trip to New Orleans, decided last night to abandon Hauser's red monoplane in approximately 42°11'N north latitude and 20°04' west longitude because darkness soon closed in after the pilot had been taken aboard.

The plane was drifting southeastward and any vessel whose position was convenient, was asked to salvage her.

It was apparent Hauser had undergone trying experiences during the six or seven days he was supposed to have drifted aboard his 220-horse-power Bellanca monoplane.

The forecast he showed in taking more than the usual supply of food when he lifted the plane, loaded with 525 gallons of gasoline and 25 gallons of oil, from the runway of Floyd Bennett field nine days ago, probably saved the pilot from even more hazardous experiences.

In his cockpit, on June 3, Hauser stored four chicken sandwiches, two ham sandwiches, seven bars of chocolate, two apples and two oranges, as well as a gallon of water and a container of black coffee.

If the one-knot speed the monoplane was floating at when abandoned by the "Circle Shell" was maintained during the several days preceding Hauser's rescue, it is probable Hauser drifted aboard the plane for close to 400 miles.

Gold Receipts Heavy

Value Of Shipments To Mint In May Over Five Million
Ottawa, Ont.—Gold receipts at the Royal Canadian Mint during May were in excess of $5,000,000 for the third time in history, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

The gold content of the shipments received at Ottawa was 242,425 fine ounces, the value of this quantity at $20.87 per ounce, the fixed price of gold, being $5,011,425.

May Attend Conference

Victoria, B.C.—While no official statement has been made, it is probable that Premier S. E. F. Thompson will attend the conference of the four western provinces at Regina June 20, as the representative of British Columbia. The government has already accepted the invitation of Premier J. T. M. Anderson, of Saskatchewan, to attend the meeting, which is to discuss the viewpoint of the west on empire trade.

To Discuss Wheat Bonus

Regina, Sask.—Discussion of asking for an extension of the five-cent per bushel bonus on wheat for export, paid by the Federal Government this year, will come up at the inter-provincial conference of the western provinces in Regina on June 20. The primary purpose of the conference will be to draft a memorandum setting forth the west's interest in the coming Imperial Conference.

More Funds Needed To Carry On Work Of Beauharnois Project

Montreal, Que.—If the Beauharnois power undertaking is to be carried to a successful conclusion and contracts for power delivery met within stipulated periods, further substantial amounts of money must be raised, the vice-president, Arthur F. White, told the second annual general meeting of shareholders of Beauharnois Power Corporation here.

The condition of the financial market has made new financing extremely difficult, and since the exhaustion of the initial bond issue proceeds, the corporation has had to look to the securing of which had been facilitated by the Dominion Government.

No United Ireland

North Would Never Be A Party To Separation From Britain

London, England.—Reports in London that present negotiations between the Free State and Britain would be widened, on the Free State side, by attempts to re-open the question of union between the Free State and Northern Ireland, met with a prompt rebuttal from Viscount Craigavon, Premier of Northern Ireland.

Lord Craigavon said union was quite out of the question. "A long time ago," he declared, "we in Ulster made up our minds that we have no change to make. I would never be a party to separation from Great Britain or severance of the Imperial connection. . . . The present British Government and I see eye to eye."

Opinion here is that President de Valera proposes, if he has not indeed already done so, reference of the whole dispute to either an Imperial or international tribunal. His bill for abolition of the oath, regarded by the British Government as the root of the present differences, is deadlocked in the Irish senate, shorn of most of its teeth by an opposition majority.

Italy Bans Foreign Wheat

More Rigid Restrictions Are To Be Fixed On Imports

Rome, Italy.—Rigid restrictions on the use of foreign wheat in Italy will become effective again next month, when millers will be required to use 95 per cent. of domestic wheat in the mixing of their flour, the government announced Thursday, June 9.

July 7 was fixed by decree as the date for enforcement of the order in southern Italy and the Province of Lazio. It will become effective in northern and central Italy on July 15.

Similar restrictions, imposed last year, were lightened gradually in the last few months.

New Governing System

Something Is Needed To Take The Place Of Party Politics

Winnipeg, Man.—Government partisanship breaks down in the face of economic difficulties and some new system must be devised, J. W. Dufour, editor-in-chief of the Winnipeg Free Press, told delegates to the third Canadian conference on social work here.

A new conception of the state in relation to the individual is taking possession of the mind of the people, Mr. Dufour said. It was not generally appreciated how revolutionary this conception was, nor were its ultimate consequences known.

Northern Air Mail

Pilot Branch Signs 1,500 Letters When Destination Reached

Prince Albert, Sask.—Pilot W. B. Broatch is hereby sick of signing his own name. He is back in the city after having carried the first air mail into Lac La Ronge from here. At his destination he obligingly signed 1,500 letters. This task required four solid hours. Letters sent by collectors of stamps and special air mail cachets for the inaugural flight of the new mail service came from all over the world. Some of them came from Britain, France and Switzerland. There were more than 40,000 on the inaugural flight.

New Stamp Issue

Postage Stamps To Commemorate Imperial Conference
Ottawa, Ont.—Commemorative postage stamps will be issued in connection with the Imperial Conference. Announcement to this effect was made from the office of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

The statement reads: "Authority has been given for the issue of three commemorative postage stamps in connection with the Imperial Conference to be held in Ottawa next month."

"These stamps will be in the denominations of three, five and 13 cents."

"The three-cent stamp will bear a portrait of the king; the five-cent stamp of the Prince of Wales; and the 13-cent will be a double-sized pictorial stamp."

"These stamps are now in course of preparation, and will be issued on a date to be set after manufacture has been completed."

"There will also be an issue of over-printed air mail stamps for the conference, these stamps being the current five-cent issue of air mail stamps, over-printed six cents, together with other printed stamps relating to the Imperial Conference."

"The denominations in which these stamps will be issued will ensure their use on mail matter going to all parts of the Empire, as well as to many other countries."

Memorial To Queen

Alexandra Unveiled

King George Officiates At Ceremony Outside Marlborough House

London, England.—In the presence of the Queen, the Prince of Wales and most other members of the royal family, the King unveiled the memorial to Queen Alexandra, erected by public subscription outside Marlborough House, where Alexandra as Princess of Wales spent her married life prior to the accession of Edward VII, and where she returned after his death.

The ceremony coincided with the annual Alexandra rose day instituted under the late queen's auspices 21 years ago. She died in 1925.

Lumber Destroyed By Fire

Six Million Feet Were Burned At North Bay

North Bay, Ont.—Six million feet of lumber and five box cars, three loaded and two partly loaded, were destroyed by fire which swept the east end of the Mageau Lumber Company's piling yard at Field, 35 miles west of here.

The fire is believed to have originated around a sawdust burner. For six hours every available man on the Canadian National Railway, forestry department and lumber firm could assemble fought the flames. A fire brigade made it impossible for the firefighters to do other than restrict the flames to one corner of the yard.

Saved From Hanging

Kamloops, B.C.—Saved from hanging when the British Columbia court of appeal granted him a new trial on appeal following his conviction of murdering two companions in the Tremblay Lake district in northern British Columbia, in June, 1930, Karl Fredericks, 32-year-old trapper and prospector, was acquitted by an assize court jury here at his third trial.

IT ISN'T WISE TO ARGUE WITH A CRICKET BALL

Lieutenant Wasir Ali, member of the All India Cricket Team, at present touring the British Isles, is shown being assisted off the field after he got hit on the head by a rising ball in the match at Lord's Cricket Ground, London, England. The injured player was taken to a nursing home, where he stayed for four days.

WOMAN DELEGATE RETURNS

Miss Winnifred Kydd, Canada's woman delegate to the Armentau Conference at Geneva, has returned to Canada with the self-imposed task of informing the women of the Dominion of the results of the Conference and its prospects toward a final conclusion.

Trachoma Menace Serious

Dread Eye Disease Affects 10,000 Indians In West

Toronto, Ont.—Trachoma, eye disease, unless stamped out in its early stages, leads to blindness, afflicts approximately 10,000 of the Indian population of western Canada, Capt. E. A. Baker, managing director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, reported to the annual meeting of the institute here.

Efforts made in co-operation with governments of the western provinces bringing to the attention of the Dominion authorities the seriousness of the trachoma menace were described by Captain Baker.

An increase in the number of blind in Canada and Newfoundland to 6,276 from 5,755 was reported. The largest increase in any district was in Quebec.

James Bay Railway

Official Opening To Take Place On July 15th

Toronto, Ont.—Official opening of the railway line from Cochrane to Mooseonee on James' Bay, will take place July 15. It was definitely announced, following a conference between Premier George S. Henry and George W. Lee, chairman of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. Premier Henry is to drive the last spike on the line amid an elaborate ceremony.

Premier R. B. Bennett and Chief Justice F. R. Latchford, who drove the first spike in the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario line in 1902, are to be invited to attend.

Death Of Joynton-Hicks

First Lord Brentford Dies At Age Of 66 Years

London, Eng.—Sir William Joynton-Hicks, first Lord Brentford, died at the age of 66 years. Congestion of the lungs complicated by heart weakness, which developed from a severe chill he sustained during a visit to the West Indies, in February, brought an end to a noted political career. Lord Brentford was also one of the leading laymen in the Church of England and took a prominent part in the parliamentary battle over the revised book of common prayer.

Kidnapping Suspect In Lindbergh Case Has Been Apprehended

Englewood, N.J.—An ex-convict was seized as a possible suspect in the kidnapping and brutal murder of the Lindbergh baby as a consequence of the suicide of a waitress in the Dwight Morrow household here.

The prisoner was Ernest Brinkert, a taxicab operator. He was taken into custody at New Rochelle, New York, a scant 12 hours after Violet Sharpe, the servant, had drained a deadly draught of poison in the Morrow residence.

The waitress, whose home is in Berkshire, England, came to this country about two and a half years ago after stopping in Canada. She secured employment with the Morrows through a New York agency.

After the suicide, which apparently was prompted by the immediate prospect of further questioning, police said Miss Sharpe had identified Brinkert as her companion on the night of March 1, when the baby was kidnapped. She was unable, they said, to give a satisfactory account of the whereabouts of herself and Brinkert on that night.

The apprehension of Brinkert in a swift move by Westchester (N.Y.) county authorities was climaxed by a police statement at White Plains, N.Y., that Dr. John F. Condon, Lindbergh intermediary, had identified a picture of Brinkert as the man to whom he paid $50,000 in a New York city cemetery April 2.

The White Plains statement, however, was made in the face of another statement by Inspector Harry Walsh of New Jersey authorities that Dr. Condon some time ago had failed to identify a picture of Brinkert.

Dr. Condon arrived at New Rochelle to confront Brinkert in a definite test of identification.

The waitress' sister, Edith, police said, sailed for England four days after a $50,000 ransom was paid in a Bronx cemetery by Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafse" in the case. The sister had stayed for some time before the kidnapping at the home of Constance Chilton in Englewood, and a cablegram was sent to Scotland Yard immediately asking for her apprehension. She also had lived in New York city.

Violet Sharpe had been employed by Mrs. Morrow, the murdered baby's grandmother, for a year and a half. She had been questioned repeatedly since the child was stolen on the night of March 1.

When the police came back to grill her again she drank from a bottle of poison as they waited, and fell to the floor, her lips forever sealed by death.

Favor Empire Trade

B.C. Industries Would Give United Support To Policy

Victoria, B.C.—Co-operation of Empire trade for the benefit of British countries, and development of an Empire currency in a medium through which this trade could be carried on, would have the united support of British Columbia industries if considered at the Imperial Economic Conference opening next month in Ottawa according to information received by the British Columbia Government.

New Shell For Champion

Hamilton, Ont.—Bobby Pearce, Olympic sculling champion and holder of the coveted Diamond scull, was the recipient of a new shell, "the City of Hamilton," a gift of the ambitious city, when he left for Los Angeles to defend his amateur sculling title at the tenth Olympiad.

Ruling Favors Indians

Alberta Game Act Allows Them Certain Privileges

Calgary, Alberta.—Indians have an unrestricted right to hunt for food on unoccupied lands regardless of the Alberta Game Act, the Alberta Court of Appeals ruled.

Justice McGillivray, who handed down the court's decision, said this ruling in no way implied that the provincial game act was ultra vires, but merely that it did not apply to Indians hunting for food on unoccupied government or other lands.

Will Attend Congress

Montreal, Que.—Some 1,800 devout Roman Catholics, led by three archbishops and several bishops of the church in Canada, sailed from Montreal last week-end, on route to attend the 31st International Eucharistic Congress in Dublin.

Urgent Problems Of Agriculture Studied By National Research Council

Ottawa, Ont.—For the purpose of considering and advising upon the solution of urgent problems of agriculture in all the major divisions of Canada—the Maritimes, Quebec and Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia—the newly-formed national advisory committee on agriculture of the National Research Council met here.

Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the council, stressed the need of co-operation and co-ordination in working out national problems. Accomplishments working in co-operation during recent years were outlined before the committee.

Dr. Robert Newton, acting director of the division of biology and agriculture, recounted the enormous progress made in the last decade, through research organizations working in co-operation.

The prospect of having rust-resistant wheat in the prairie provinces, free from other diseases and of high milling and baking quality, within 10 years of the organization of the committee which brought all agencies together on a common programme, he described as a scientific accomplishment of the first magnitude.

He stated that rust-resistant varieties of wheat from all the agencies which developed them have been pooled for final test. Those selected are being tried out at numerous points, and the resulting grain is to be studied by laboratories of the Dominion Department of Agriculture and the three provincial universities in the west.

The grain research committee since its inception has undertaken several major special investigations. Dr. Newton said there was now in press the final report on the investigation of the drying of grain "which should clear up all points likely to arise. Before the end of the year the committee expects to publish a report of frost injury to grain, the result of work which included artificial frosting of grain at the University of Alberta and a study of the consequences in the laboratories of the three prairie universities.

Numerous complaints regarding the effect of the combine method of harvesting on grain have resulted in the inauguration of an elaborate investigation. Some years ago the committee began an investigation of the quality of the numerous varieties of wheat grown in the west. The information obtained was of great value to the committee in making its recommendations on the grading of Garnet wheat. "There is now available," Dr. Newton said, "an authoritative classification of the leading varieties and there is no reason why inferior varieties need further be grown."

"If we cannot carry things beyond the range of other people there is no justification for our existence," Dr. Newton declared in outlining the projected program of his division. Studies in agriculture to be undertaken in the new laboratories are to be fundamental in character and of such a nature that they cannot be undertaken elsewhere in Canada.

Referring to Canada's most important agricultural product, wheat, and in particular to the suggestion that carotene (one of its constituents which gives a yellow color to flour if not bleached out) may be associated with the vitamin value of the flour, Dr. Newton said: "If there is anything to be found out, either for or against our grain, Canada should find out about it."

The advisory committee adjourned to meet again in November at the time of the royal winter fair in Toronto.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The organizing of Citizens Leagues in the Crows Nest Pass towns is the natural sequence of the insolence of Communist fanatics. Tolerance has been strained to the limit, and it speaks well for the self-control of those responsible for maintenance of law and order that no violent outbreak occurred during the tense situation of the past three months.

Two wrongs do not make a right. This precept should be kept well in mind by leaders of the Citizens' League in the Pass towns. It is very easy for supporters of the League to slip into similar methods which characterized the "Red" campaign of abuse. Such a failing would discount the good work which the Leagues can accomplish. It augurs well for the success of the new organizations that education in Canadian citizenship and not abuse is to be the strongest plank in their platform.

These leagues will use their influence to see that fit and proper candidates are nominated for local government bodies. They will exercise a wholesome influence in promulgating ideals of Canadian citizenship among those who have been misled, and will make for a more healthy community life.

Coleman business men should realize more fully the opportunities that exist for making their home town a more important place. The Journal has pointed out the asset Coleman has in Crows Nest Lake and the land adjoining. Yet some of our business men instead of trying to develop our own assets, transfer their support elsewhere. A Blairmore man has invested money there in an amusement hall, and he deserves support in his efforts, even though his investment was made on a commercial basis. Yet he is doing his part to create summer business and attract people from outside points. Coleman business men should join in helping to develop a really attractive park at the lake. More of the boosting spirit for Coleman, the most populous centre in the Crows Nest Pass, should be cultivated. There are a few 100 per cent. workers for Coleman. But their efforts to be effective, must be backed by all. Inferiority complex never gets a man or a town anywhere along the path of progress. Those who are content to play second fiddle must be content with second rate or less rewards.

Adequate police protection is not given to this town. With the largest population of the Pass towns, it requires resident police. Edmonton should give heed to representations made, for the government must heed the wishes of the people. This matter will be pressed by the Board of Trade. There have been too many thefts for which there have been no convictions, the railway company and the business men having many complaints to offer on this score.

Efforts will be made by Coleman Miners' Association to secure possession of the Miners Hall and Opera House. It was paid for by Coleman miners, but the title is in the hands of the executive of the Mine Workers Union of America. This organization could perform a graceful service by transferring it, without any strings attached, to the local association. Its use would prove very effective in forging a strong bond of community interests, and it would be a beneficial asset to the entire community instead of a costly liability to the M.W.U. of A.

The request of strikers for withdrawal of police reminds people that it was the action of the strikers which necessitated the police being reinforced. Had the government not acted, there would have been civil war here, for the attitude of the strikers, fanned by paid agitators, was becoming so abusive that those opposed to them were tempted to organize their forces to combat the campaign of intimidation and insolence which frightened many non-English miners into joining the red parades. Now that the domination of red influence has been broken, the "reds" are squealing like whipped pups. The Journal emphatically asserts that this strike was not a bona-fide labor dispute. It was a direct attempt of the Communist party to impose its dictatorship on the entire population of the Crows Nest Pass, no matter how much discredited labor leaders and organizers may deny it, now they find their power gone.

The Journal will not make any concessions to the death-bed repentances which the Communist organizers are now making. No sane person would compromise with a mad dog, neither will sensible people jealous of the laws of the country in which they live compromise with would-be rebels and traitors.

Many lies have been read in the Communist press concerning this strike. Truth is the most effective weapon to combat misrepresentation. Public opinion may judge for itself.

Board of Trade Membership

Membership fees for 1932 were collected yesterday, nearly every store and business man contributing. One gentleman showed his appreciation by giving $10. Mrs. Ferguson is the only lady member, and each year gladly pays the membership fee to help defray the Board's expenses. Those who have not yet been called on may leave the $2.00 fee with Mr. Rippon at the bank. The list will be completed this week and published in the next issue. Booster cards will be issued to those who have joined, and the president, H. T. Halliwell, thanks them for their cheerful support.

The annual convention of members of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association will be held at Port Arthur commencing July 28. Its membership includes publishers from the Atlantic to the Pacific and the rule is to meet in a different province of the Dominion each year.

Flowers for any occasion may be ordered through Frank H. Graham, at the post office. Prompt service assured at all times, by telephoning 81W.

Stonebord

The Fireproof Wallboard

For new buildings, for a new room, for making new walls out of old, there is nothing better than "STONEBORD," the fire-proof Wallboard. Apply "STONEBORD" instead of plaster. Do it yourself. No straps on joints; no mess while working. You have a clean, smooth surface much harder than plaster itself. Repair old walls, ceilings or cracked plaster by applying "STONEBORD"—there is nothing better.

STONETEXTURE—The Plastic Paint

STONETEXTURE provides a satisfactory plastic decorative material that is so economical as to warrant the use of textured walls and ceilings in work where previously they were prohibitive because of their high cost.

Specially adapted to apply on "STONEBORD" surface. It is not a paint nor a plaster, but once applied, by yourself, its decorative qualities are illimitable. It is scientifically prepared and ready for immediate use without any mixing, adding to or taking away.

Nine years continuous attendance at school, with only two half-day absences and no late marks, constitutes a record probably throughout Canada. Such is the achievement of Helen Hancock, 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. Martha Hancock. Many citizens feel that recognition should be made of this distinction. Possibly the school trustees may decide on giving her special recognition by presentation of a medal or some other suitable token.

Here and There

Captain L. D. H. N. R., recently arrived from the Pacific coast, is a native of Japan, and is a native of the Pacific coast, recently brought his 26,000-ton cargo alongside Pier B, Vancouver within 44 minutes of the Pacific record.

His Excellency Rana Phagat Chandra Bahadur, Rajah of Jubbal, was a traveler on the Empress of Japan from the Far East, recently. He might have been taken for any business man but for the presence of his wife, daughter of the Maharajah of Kathiawar, India, who was attired in Indian garb.

Crop conditions in western Canada are most encouraging and, given normal weather conditions, the quantity and quality of the harvest will go a long way towards restoring confidence and prosperity. Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stated recently on his return from a tour of inspection of the company's property.

Final figures of butter production in Alberta for 1931 amount to 22,567,922 pounds, which is more than 600,000 pounds above the previous highest year's record for the province. Closely associated with butter production is a movement inaugurated by the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture to encourage farmers to enlarge their forage crop areas.

Major "Bill" McGeehan, one of America's best known columnists, and Lionel Hitchman, veteran defence man of Boston Bruins, landed a 19 and a 30 pound salmon from the New Brunswick waters respectively in May. The Major got his fish with a four-ounce trout rod on the Cain's River; Hitchman was fishing at Hart's Pool near Fredericton on the Saint John River.

John Cudaby, of Milwaukee, hunting across the Great Divide near Banff, and faced by a furiously charging wounded grizzly almost within striking distance and with but one cartridge left in his rifle, coolly stood his ground and dropped the monster at his feet. Mr. Cudaby has hunted in India, Africa and Alaska, but said he had never had the thrills he experienced on this recent grizzly hunt.

Success of the bargain trips over week-ends and holidays which the Canadian Pacific has put into effect this year was further attested by the great popularity enjoyed during the recent Victoria Day holiday and in week-ends following. To take one large centre—Montreal—the city was literally invaded by the great influx of visitors from eastern Canada and the United States and other big Canadian cities report similar conditions.

Brother officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway, representatives of transportation systems in Canada and the United States, members of the Masonic Order and of Rotary and sorority friends from virtually all walks of life united in an impressive tribute to the late George A. Walton, general passenger agent of the railway at his funeral in Montreal recently. The remains were taken to Winnipeg where burial took place in the Elmwood Cemetery with His Honor James D. McGregor, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, Mayor Ralph H. Webb, of Winnipeg, and many officers of the company in attendance. His Grace Archbishop Matheson, assisted by the Rev. H. S. Reed, of St. Luke's Anglican Church, conducted the funeral service. (847)

BUT WHY SHOOT HIM?

Surely there are very few cases of cruelty to dogs in this country.

No man wishes a strange dog on his property, and dog owners seem to be becoming more careful of any annoyance caused by their dog to their neighbors.

It is only reasonable to suggest that there should be a much stricter law for dog owners compelling them to keep their dog quiet and under reasonable control and to prevent any annoyance to the neighborhood.—A Reader.

Without Altering Diet

To reduce weight without any attention to diet is rather more than anyone should expect. That the Kruschen method would have succeeded in this case, is a great tribute to its effectiveness.

"When I started taking Kruschen for reducing weight, I weighed 170 lbs. That was seven months ago. I decided I was too heavy, and now, thanks to the half teaspoonful of Kruschen every morning, I tip the scale at 150 lbs. I have been that weight for nearly four months. I may say I feel much better. I did not diet myself in any way whatever."—E. C.

Kruschen Salts do not reduce you overnight—like so many products claim to do. But taken regularly over a period of time—with a modified diet and gentle exercise, half a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast will take away unhealthy flesh and restore you to its normal weight. Yet at the same time—build up health with a great increase in vigor and energy for you!

Proposal Is Made To Set Aside Week For This Purpose This Fall

An "Empire Shopping Week" for Canada will be arranged during the autumn, probably while the economic conference is underway in Ottawa, if the hopes of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association are realized. This was intimated in the report of the commercial intelligence committee presented at the 61st annual general meeting of the association at Ottawa. Empire shopping weeks were held in 1928 and 1929 and its revival has been urged upon the minister of trade and commerce.

Yukon Territory, Canada, is a land of flowers. Hundreds of types of flowers, plants and shrubs grow wild on every hill and valley. Nature responds generously where flowers are cultivated and one of the lasting impressions left with the visitor is the variety and beauty of the flowers which decorate the homes and beautify the grounds of Dawson, the capital.

Brighter Prospects

Saskatchewan Farmers Will Profit By Past Experiences

With his crop grows the hope of the Saskatchewan farmer. Saskatchewan today is a far brighter province than some months ago, with present indications pointing to excellent wheat production this season. Soil tillers throughout the province are encouraged in the hope that harvest time will find the farmer well equipped to carry on independent of government relief.

Government officials say one good crop will make this possible. One good crop will disperse the cloud of poverty which so long has enveloped the farm lands of Saskatchewan. One good crop will relieve Saskatchewan people of the tremendous burden they have been forced to share in the effort to support 275,000 people affected by drought which in many districts has ruined three successive crops.

Through it all the farmer is hopeful. Happy in the thought of what a crop will bring to him. Even when forced to appeal for food, clothing, fuel and fodder, the farmer would not admit defeat.

E. B. Daniels, commissioner of relief, is high in his praise of the spirit of the farmer. Men owning vast tracts of land, but at present without a cent of cash, have come to the relief commission. Mr. Daniels said, and succeed help only in the nature of a loan. "They'll pay back everything they owe," Mr. Daniels said. "They are not dispirited, and have faith in each succeeding crop."

From impressions gathered while interviewing men applying for relief, Mr. Daniels believes the farmer never again will be caught under similar circumstances. Men have told him they lost a great deal in stock speculation and speculative farming. Now, Mr. Daniels is convinced, the farmer will not be looking toward big returns and will be content to make a comfortable living for his family.

Even with grain prices down at today's low level the farmers expect to make sufficient money this year to re-establish their farms. The commissioner thinks stricter economies will be practised by the farmer and farms will be more self contained. There was so little feed in the province during the winter that 12,500 railway carloads had to be brought in from neighboring provinces, he said, but in future, fodder sufficient to supply the farmer's individual needs probably will be produced by the farmer himself.

Another measure of economy is the return to horse-power on the farms due to the high cost of gasoline and oil here. Possible shortage of horses with a subsequent revival in western Canada of horse-breeding is predicted by government agricultural men.

Through all their difficulties the farmers have never lost their morale. Even to the far north where some 2,800 families are re-establishing themselves in the Meadow Lake district after drought and sweeping winds had forced them to desert their farms in the south, there is no talk of quitting. The Saskatchewan farmer has taken his "hard-times" medicine like a man—and is looking for it to do him good.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

CHERRY JELLY

(Any kind except wild or choke-cherry)

3 cups 1½ lbs. juice.
6½ cups (2½ lbs.) sugar.
1 bottle fruit pectin.

To prepare juice, stem and crush 3 pounds fully ripe cherries. Do not pit. Add ½ cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. (For stronger cherry flavor, add ¼ teaspoon almond extract before pouring.) Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about nine 8-ounce glasses.

CAKE PUDDING

1 package chocolate junket.

1 pint milk.

Cut left-over cake in small cubes and put a heaping tablespoon in each of four dessert glasses. Prepare chocolate junket according to directions on the package. Pour at once over the cake. Let stand in warm room until firm—about 10 minutes. Then chill. This may be topped with whipped cream if desired.

Contract Bridge

By Hamlin B. Hatch, Olympic Champion, Cavendish Club, Toronto

In my last article the salient features of the Approach-Forcing System were given. Today I will review the Official System. This system was devised by the united efforts of several bridge experts to remedy what they considered were defects in the Approach-Forcing System. Added to this was the idea that the conventional part of the game could be made easier for the average player.

The Official System differs from the Approach-Forcing System only slightly. The chief differences are noted below.

1st. The Opening Bid of One.

In the Official System the opening bid of one is made on a hand containing from two to three and one-half quick tricks, and guarantees that in the declared suit the bidding hand will take from four to five tricks. This is practically the same as the minimum opening bid of one in the Approach-Forcing System.

2nd. The Opening Bid of Two.

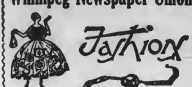

The opening bid of two is made on a hand containing from three and one-half to six honor tricks and guarantees that in the declared suit the hand will take at least six tricks. The bid is called the intermediate two bid and this declaration constitutes the chief difference between the Approach-Forcing and Official Systems. This two bid does not demand a response if partner's hand contains one honor trick or strong distributional values. It is true that on certain types of hands this bid gives good results but opponents of this bid maintain that it gives too much information to the opposing side and therefore tends to nullify the chance of making penalty doubles. It is generally believed by experts that its disadvantages outweigh its advantages. On the other hand it gives precision of information to one's partner and amongst average players this precision of information is a very valuable asset. But it is conceded that the present day game of contract is a battle of wits, with the main battle being fought before the cards go on the table, then it is logical to think that the use of any bidding method which gives too much information to the opposing side is bad strategy if not bad contract. Personally I am of the opinion that applied to certain types of hands, the bid is valuable but I do not think this certain type of hand comes often enough to warrant the inclusion of this bid in any system. For on the average it may be said that in the Official System over eighty per cent of the opening bids are bids of one.

The opening bid of three in the Official System is similar in its application to the opening bid of two in the Approach-Forcing System. It is a demand bid and guarantees game for the particular deal in which it is made. Except then for the variations in the opening bid convention, the Official and the Approach-Forcing Systems are practically aligned. The Jump-Shift bids are forcing. Both systems and methods of overcalling used are alike. The weak no trump response by partner to an opening bid of one is identical in both systems. The no trump original bid is used more frequently in the Official System than in the Approach-Forcing simply because the bid made on four card suits in the Official System must have a stronger honor trick four card suit than is required by the Approach-Forcing.

However, both systems are easy to play and it is not a hard matter to be an expert player to familiarize himself thoroughly with the salient differences between them, so that he can play whichever system his partner desires him to play.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JACOB THE AGED FATHER

Golden Text: "Honor thy father and thy mother."—Exodus 20:12.
Lesson: Genesis 46:1-7, 28-33; 47:1.
Devotional Reading: Luke 2:41-52.

Explanations and Comments

Jacob and His Family Journey To Goshen, 46:1-27.—The moving scene in our last week's lesson closed with all barriers down. Joseph and his brothers were united in peace and love, and Joseph planned with them for their speedy settlement in Egypt. Laden with presents—raiment and silver and all the good things of Egypt—the eleven brothers returned to Jacob. "Joseph is yet alive, and is ruler over all the land of Egypt" was the astounding news they brought to their father, who had so long mourned for Joseph as dead. No wonder he could not believe them at first. When he saw the wagons which Joseph had sent to transport his household he cried: "It is enough; Joseph my son is yet alive; I will go and see him before I die."

At last all were ready for the journey to Egypt—Jacob and his sons and their households, their cattle and their goods. At Beersheba, on the border of the sand waste which lay between them and Egypt, the caravan halted and offered sacrifice. Everything reminded Jacob of his early life there. In a vision that night Jacob brought about his assurance that the journey to Egypt was for the best, and the promise that his descendants should inherit the land of Egypt was repeated. The prospect of any greatness still seemed remote at this time.

These wandering clans needed just such a place as Goshen in which to increase in numbers undisturbed by hostile neighbors; a place, too, where they could learn from the Egyptians something of the arts of life. Therefore it was God's plan for them to find in Egypt an asylum where they could live, a settled life. The bringing of Jacob and his sons into Egypt brought about their consummation.

The Meeting Of Jacob and Joseph, Genesis 46:28-34.—On the confines of Egypt they were met by Joseph. Like a king Joseph had sent for his father, and like a king he came to meet him in his imperial chariot, drawn by Egyptian horses. But like a son he fell on his father's neck and wept.

"It may be a grand thing to sit on a throne and rule till the old days come upstart. But it is an infinitely grander thing, a 'lordlier chivalry,' to come out the stool and go away to meet him a mile and on the road. Your home will be a better home—I do not care how poor the cot—if you have a little sentiment in you, a little tenderness and nice feeling. These are things that sweeten life."—Joseph Parker.

Britain and Europe

Entangling Alliances Have Caused Nothing But Trouble In The Past

Great Britain troubles life in and proceed from Europe which has drained her through the centuries of how many millions of lives and what uncountable wealth. The British people mean to be free of this incubus. They mean to regain their liberty of action and to conduct their lives with friendship towards all nations, and to engage in entangling alliances and agreements with none. And they mean to take their own measure of their liberties and to provide against them as they see fit.

The first step to the recovery of our political freedom must be to make an end of this farce of conference after conference at Geneva and Lausanne—futile political parties that end in nothing but strife, distrust and quarrels from the Empire, and are proving the dearest investment we ever made—London Express.

Queen Victoria's Letters Published in London

Name Of Former German Kaiser Occupies Prominent Place

The final volume of Queen Victoria's letters, covering the last five years of her life, has been published in London, England, disclosing that she once wrote "It wouldn't do" to give former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany "a good smb."

The letters revealed that the last years of the octogenarian sovereign were marked among other things, by less caustic criticism of national and international events.

The name of the former Kaiser occupies a prominent place in the letters, in which the late queen is revealed as an advocate of forbearance when his doings aroused hostility.

"This was particularly noticeable at the time of the Boer War when the Kaiser sent a telegram to President Kruger of the Transvaal in South Africa, which excited indignation on the part of the British nation. Queen Victoria shared in the indignation, but kept her restraint.

"It wouldn't do," she wrote, "to give him a good smb. Sharp, cutting answers and remarks only irritate and do harm, and in sovereigns and princes should most carefully be guarded against.

"William's faults come from impetuosity, as well as conceit, and calmness and firmness are the most powerful weapons in such cases."

The latest letters furnish evidence of a weariness and longing for rest, but a sense of duty prevailed over that weariness, and up to within a few days of her death she signed documents and attended to business.

New Type Of Cement

Alkali In Western Soils Will Not Destroy It

A short address by Dr. T. Thorvaldson, chemical professor at the University of Saskatchewan, marked the closing session of the fifteenth annual convention of the Canadian Chemical Association which was held in Hamilton, Ontario. A distinct Canadian achievement, the invention of a new type of cement which would resist the destruction wrought by the alkali present in western soils, was discussed by Dr. Thorvaldson. The new invention is expected to save millions of dollars a year, the western professor said, to builders, roadmakers and waterworks systems.

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

—BY—
MARGARET FEDLER

Author of
"The Splendid Fool: The Hermit of Far End,"
Hodder & Stoughton, Ltd., London.

Burke fitted the key into the lock of the door and turned it sulkily.

"You prim little thing! I was only teasing you," he said. "Do you suppose really as frightened as all that of—what people may say? I thought you were about minding gossip of ill-natured scandalmongers."

Jean grasped eagerly at the excuse. It would serve to hide the real motive of her impulsive action.

"No woman can afford to ignore scandal," she answered quickly. "After all, a woman's happiness depends mostly on her reputation."

Burke's eyes narrowed suddenly. He looked at her speculatively, as though her words had suggested a new train of thought, but he made no comment. Somewhat abstractedly he opened the door and allowed her to pass out and down the stairs. Outside the door of the inn they found the mare and dog-cart in charge of an ostler.

"The mare's foot's rather badly torn, sir," volunteered the man, "but the blacksmith thinks she'll travel all right. Far to go, sir?"

"Nine or ten miles," responded Burke laconically.

He was curiously silent on the way home. It was as though the chain of reasoning started by Jean's comment on the relation scandal bears to a woman's happiness still absorbed him. His brows were knit together morosely.

Jean supposed he was probably reproaching himself for his conduct that afternoon. After all, she reflected, he was normally a man of decent instincts, and though the flood-tide of his passion had swept him into taking advantage of the circumstances which had flung them together in the solitude of the little inn, he would be the first to agree, when in a less lawless frame of mind, that his conduct had been unpardonable. Although, even from that, one could not premise that he would not be equally culpable another time!

Blaize had proved painfully correct.

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

She's Up in the Air Again

Those who love... are first to suffer when monthly pains shatter her nerves. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would take that awful agony

In his estimate of the dangers attaching to unexpended hours, Jean admitted it to herself ruefully. And she was honest enough also to admit that, with his warning ringing in her ears and with the memory of what had happened in the rose-garden to illustrate it, she herself was not altogether clear of blame for the incidents of the afternoon.

She had played with Burke, even encouraged him to a certain extent, allowing him to be in her company more frequently than was altogether wise, considering the circumstances of his head-bowed love for her.

It was somewhat of a mental strain of surprise that she found herself seeking for excuses for his behaviour—actually trying to supply adequate reasons why she should overlook it.

His brooding, sulky silence as he drove along, mile after mile, was not without its appeal to the inherent femininity of her. He did not try to excuse or palliate his conduct, made no attempt to sue for forgiveness. He loved her and he had let her see it; manlike, he had taken what the opportunity offered. And she didn't suppose he regretted it.

The faintest smile twitched the corners of her lips. Burke was not the type of man to regret an unlawful kiss.

She was conscious that—as usual, where he was concerned—her virtuous indignation was zoning away in the most discreditable and hopeless fashion. There was an audacious charm about the man's claims and his consciousness belief that the battle should assuredly be to the strong, earned him forgiveness where, for misdeeds not half so flagrant, a less imperious sinner would have been promptly shown the door.

But no woman—not even the women to whom he had made love with-out excuse of loving—had ever shown Burke the door or given him the kind of treatment which he had thoroughly well merited twenty times over.

At least he had no exception to the rule.

And what woman can ever long remain angry with a man who loves her—and whose very offence is the outcome of the overmastering quality of that love? Very few, and certainly none who was so much of a woman, so essentially feminine as Jean.

It was in a very small voice, which she disavowed to make airily detached, that she at last broke the silence which had reigned for the last miles or so.

"I suppose I shall have to forgive you—more or less. One can't exactly quarrel with one's next door neighbour."

Burke smiled grimly.

"Can't you?"

"But I'm not. Kissing you"—with deliberation—"is one of the things I shall never regret. When I come to make my peace with Heaven and repent in sackcloth and ashes for my sins of omission and commission, I shall include this afternoon in my list. I assure you. It was worth it if I pay for it afterwards in hell."

He was silent a moment. Then: "But I'll promise you one thing. I'll never kiss you again till you give me your lips yours!"

Jean smiled at the characteristic speech. She supposed this was as near an apology as Burke would ever get.

"That's all right, then," she replied composedly. "Because I shall never do that."

He flicked the chestnut lightly with the whip.

"I think you will," he said. "I think"—he looked at her somewhat enigmatically—"that you will give me everything I want—some day."

St. Charles Milk

of the expedition to Dartmoor, Nick seemed determined to keep out of Jean's way. It was as though he feared she might force some confidence from him that he was loath to give, and in consequence, deliberately avoided being alone with her.

On the second day, however, as luck would have it, she encountered him in the corridor just outside her sitting-bedroom. He was standing blindly along, obviously not heeding where he was going, and had almost collided with her before he realized that she was there.

He jerked himself backwards.

"I beg your pardon," he muttered, still without looking at her, and made as though to pass on.

Jean checked him with a hand on his sleeve. She had not watched the doggerel of his face through-out yesterday to no purpose, and now, as her swift gaze searched it anew, she was convinced that something fresh had occurred to stir him. It was impossible for Jean to see a friend in trouble without wanting to "stand by."

"Nick, old thing, what's wrong?" she asked.

He stared at her unseeing.

"Wrong?" he muttered. "Wrong?"

"Yes. Come in here and let's talk it out—whatever it is." With gentle insistence she drew him into her sitting-bedroom. "Now," she said, when she had established him in an easy-chair by the open window and herself in another, "what's gone wrong? Are you still boiling over about that trick Sir Adrian played on Claire the day of the picnic?"

She spoke lightly—more lightly than the occasion warranted—of set purpose, hoping to reduce the tension under which Nick was obviously labouring. His face hurt her. The family quarrel which was the subject of her charge was blotted out of it by some heavy cloud tragic significance. He looked as though he had not slept for days, and his eyes, the gaily burnt out of them by pain, seemed sunken in his head.

He stared at her blankly for a moment. Then he seemed to awaken to the meaning of her question.

"No," he said slowly. "No. The boiling over part is done with—finished. . . . I'm going to take her away from him."

He spoke with a curious precision. It frightened Jean far more than any impetuous outburst of anger could have done. She made no answer for a moment, but her mind worked rapidly. She did not doubt the absolute sincerity of his intention. This was no mere reckless boast of an angry lover, but the sane, considered wish and object of a man who has come by way of some long agony of thwarting, to a set determination.

"Do you mean that, Nick?" she asked at last, to gain time.

"Do I mean it?" he laughed. Then his hands gripped the arms of the chair and he leaned forward. I saw her—last evening after dinner. . . . Her shoulder was black."

A sharp cry broke from Jean's lips. "Not—not—he hadn't—"

Nick nodded.

"He had struck her. There was one of the usual scenes when they got back from the Moor—and he struck her. . . . It's the first time he has ever actually laid hands on her. It's going to be the last!"—grimly.

Jean was silent. Her whole soul was in revolt against the half-mad, drug-ridden creature who was making of Claire's life a daily martyrdom; the instinct to protect her, he

"And yet," urged Jean, "if you go away together, Nick, it's she who'll pay, you know. The woman always does. Supposing—supposing Sir Adrian doesn't divorce her—and refuses to? It would be just like him to punish her that way. What about Claire—then?"

"He would divorce her," protested Nick harshly.

Jean shook her head.

succour her in some way, asserting that with almost passionate force. And yet—She knew that Nick's way was not the right way.

"Yes, it must be the last time," she agreed. "But—but, Nick, your plan won't do, you know."

"Think not!" he said curtly. "Can you suggest a better?" Then, as Jean remained miserably silent: "Nor can I. And one thing I swear—I won't leave the woman I love in the hands of a man who is practically a maniac, to be tortured day after day, mentally and physically, just whenever he feels like it."

It struck Jean as curious that Nick had been able, more or less, to keep himself in hand whilst Sir Adrian insisted upon Claire whatever of mental and spiritual torture seemed good in his distorted vision. It was the fact that he had hurt her physically, laid his hand upon her in actual violence, which had scattered Nick's self-control to the four winds of heaven.

To Jean herself, it seemed conceivable that the mental anguish of Claire's married life had probably far outstripped any mere bodily pain. Half tentatively she gave expression to her thoughts.

"God forbid!" he exclaimed. "If you were a man, you'd understand! I see when I think of that damned brute striking the woman I love. It—it was sacrilege!"

"And won't it be another kind of sacrilege—if you take her away with you, Nick?" asked Jean very quietly.

He flushed duly.

"He'll divorce her, and then we shall marry," he answered.

"Even so?—steadily—"it would be doing evil that good may come."

"Then we'll do it—savagely. It's easy enough of his face through-out yesterday to no purpose, and now, as her swift gaze searched it anew, she was convinced that something fresh had occurred to stir him. It was impossible for Jean to see a friend in trouble without wanting to "stand by."

He stared at her unseeing.

"Wrong?" he muttered. "Wrong?"

"Yes. Come in here and let's talk it out—whatever it is." With gentle insistence she drew him into her sitting-bedroom. "Now," she said, when she had established him in an easy-chair by the open window and herself in another, "what's gone wrong? Are you still boiling over about that trick Sir Adrian played on Claire the day of the picnic?"

She spoke lightly—more lightly than the occasion warranted—of set purpose, hoping to reduce the tension under which Nick was obviously labouring. His face hurt her. The family quarrel which was the subject of her charge was blotted out of it by some heavy cloud tragic significance. He looked as though he had not slept for days, and his eyes, the gaily burnt out of them by pain, seemed sunken in his head.

He stared at her blankly for a moment. Then he seemed to awaken to the meaning of her question.

"No," he said slowly. "No. The boiling over part is done with—finished. . . . I'm going to take her away from him."

Eno Cleanliness Means Good Health

Water alone will not remove grime from your hands . . . you need soap, too. It's the same with inward cleaning . . . it takes more than a mere laxative to remove poisonous matter. That's why ENO'S "Fruit Salt" is so good for you. It helps to make and keep you healthy by thoroughly cleansing the intestinal tract. Take it daily, morning or night. But be sure it's ENO'S!

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

"I don't think so. Honestly, I believe he would get undiluted satisfaction out of the fact that, as long as he lived, he could stand between Claire and everything that a normal woman wants—home, and a sheltered life, and the knowledge that no one can 'say things' about her. Oh, Nick, Nick! Between you and Sir Adrian—you'd make an outcast of Claire, make her life a worse hell with you than it is without you." She paused, then went on more quietly: "Have you said anything to her about this—told her what you want her to do?"

"No, not yet—not definitely." Jean breathed a quick sigh of relief.

"Then don't! Promise me you won't, Nick!"

"She might refuse, after all," he suggested, evading a direct answer.

"Refuse! You know her better than that. If you wanted Claire to make a burnt-offering of herself for your benefit tomorrow, you know she'd do it! And—and—laughing a little hysterically—"pretend, too, that she enjoyed the process of being grilled! No, Nick, it's up to you to—to just go on helping to make her life bearable, as you have done for the last two years."

"It's asking too much of me, Jean." Nick spoke a little thickly. He was up against one of man's most primitive instincts—the instinct to protect and comfort and cherish the woman he loved.

"I know. It's asking everything of you."

Jean waited. She felt that she had gained a certain amount of ground—that Nick's resolution had weakened a little in response to her pleading, but she feared to drive him too far. She glanced she could hear steps crossing the hall below. If someone should come upstairs and disturb them now, while things were still trembling in the balance—

"See, Nick," she began to speak again hurriedly. "You believe I'm your girl—and you and Claire's?"

"I know it," he replied quietly.

"And—and you do care a bit about me?"—smiling a little.

"You're the third woman in my world, Jean. After Claire and my mother."

Toronto Hostess Entertained Guests With Ride Around Belt Line

C. W. Steel, who drove Toronto's first electric car down Church Street in 1892, has just died. What progress invention has made in these forty years, in the way of electrical appliances, is shown by a novelty that hostesses used to organize car rides for their guests, and take them on jaunts around the belt line in specially illuminated cars just for the fun of the thing.

Perlan Balm appeals instantly to the dainty woman. Stimulating the skin, making it velvety soft in texture, it creates and preserves combinations of exquisite charm. Delicately fragrant. Cool and delightful to use. Especially recommended to soothe and dispel roughness or chafing. Stimulating and invigorating. Imparts a youthful loveliness and protects and enhances the most delicately-textured skin. Perlan Balm is the unrivalled toilet requisite.

Earl of Egmont Estate Valued At Two Hundred Thousand Pounds

The London Daily Telegraph says the Earl of Egmont, former Pridella, Alta, rancher who was fatally injured in an automobile crash near Southampton, left an estate of £282,522.

The newspaper estimated the net value of the estate, after deduction of succession and other state levies, at £211,400.

The earl, who lived with his son in the kitchen of A von Castle, left no will, and letters of administration, until further representation shall be granted, are in the name of the Royal Bank of Scotland at Edinburgh.

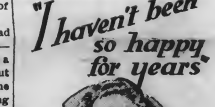

The earl's direct heir is his son, Viscount Perceval, a young man of 17 who could rope and brand a calf with the best of the hands on his father's ranch at Pridella.

"I use Applified Wonder Paper now. You buy it in a neat package that tucks away handily in a table drawer. Twenty-five large sheets for a quarter. When you use it, you simply crumple a sheet into a soft wad and go over whatever needs attention."

"I've never seen anything like Wonder Paper. It really dries, cleans and polishes at the same time. It takes up dirt like magic, and so easily. And you can use both sides."

"What I used to loathe about dusting was the bother of keeping the dustens clean. I always used odds and ends of old shirts and the like—and it seemed to me I was eternally washing them. It wasted me just to throw them into a bag or cupboard. They seemed soummy."

"The beauty of Wonder Paper is that you throw it away when you're through with it."

"I can promise that you'll like Wonder Paper. It gives you time for things very much more attractive than dusting."

EDITOR BARTLETT IS NO LONGER A BACHELOR

The Journal extends hearty congratulations to Editor Bartlett on having taken unto himself a wife. It also looks forward with keen anticipation to his next edition of that little booklet—"What we know about women," which caused many a smile. A year hence he will be qualified to speak with authority, it being generally conceded that the first year is the hardest.

The age for romance never ends, and though a worthy Scot of this town was very skeptical and would not believe the Editor of the Enterprise was married till he had seen the proof, yet he should remember that wonders never cease. W. J. should feel highly complimented that the happy event has evoked so much interest. Friends and acquaintances extend the happy couple good wishes. We are tempted to indulge in a real old-time charivari to mark the occasion.
